

Full name: Dr Anna Herrey

Affiliation: Barts Heart Centre, London, UK

Dr Anna Herrey is a clinical cardiologist at Barts Heart Centre with an interest in cardiac disease in pregnancy and multi-modality cardiac imaging, and Honorary Senior Lecturer at Queen Mary University London. She set up and leads the maternal cardiology service at Newham General Hospital and previously the Royal Free Hospital and jointly runs a preconception counselling clinic at Barts. She serves as joint education lead on the council of the UK Maternal Cardiac Society and is an assessor for MBRRACE, the UK confidential enquiry into maternal deaths. She has a keen interest in undergraduate and postgraduate education and enjoys lecturing on maternal cardiology and cardiovascular imaging. Her research interests include the role of imaging in preeclampsia and myocardial tissue characterisation.