

Trailer – The Empowered Edupreneur Podcast

Hello, hello, hello, it is Michelle Smit here, an EX teacher turned six-figure online business owner. I am a business and mindset coach for aspiring Edupreneurs who are both starting and growing their business, and I'm the founder of Digiteach and the Digiteachers Biz Academy. I am so, so, so, so, so excited to announce my brand new podcast, the Empowered Edupreneur.

This podcast is for the ambitious educators who know that they are destined for more, and it's for all educators who are growing their freedom filled online business with their joy and heart at the centre of it. You can expect business strategy and advice. And the mindset and energetics that comes with growing a successful six figure online education business that does not rely on trading more hours.

My mission is simple, helping educators unlock their inner entrepreneur. Introducing the Edupreneur. I want to help educators bring their teaching gifts to the world of online business so that they can create more freedom, more impact, and of course more money. I truly believe that the more money that goes into the hands of educators, the better this world becomes, and I want to help educators build businesses. And lives that they truly want for themselves.

I know for certain that there are thousands of teachers out there who know that they have the potential to create so much more for themselves who want to take back their power and make their own money. If you are ambitious, Driven and ready to up level your life in a big way. Then this podcast is for you.

You are literally me a few years ago. If you've already taken the leap and you've started your online business, then yay, go. You. You are in the right place to, I'm going to be showing you practical and spiritual ways in which you can increase your success and make more money.

I know life is crazy busy as an educator in business, so I'm going to make sure I give you some weekly pockets of value in this podcast that makes growing your business so much easier, more fun, and less lonely because it takes a village, right? So make sure to subscribe to this podcast at all the normal places you listen to podcasts by searching for The Empowered Edupreneur Podcast with Michelle Smit.

And that way you won't miss an episode. Plus, you can always access extra goodies and links from the podcast. If you head to my website at Digiteach.biz/podcast, a huge thank you to my amazing audience for helping me create this podcast. I am beyond excited to help you and thousands of other ambitious educators in business play bigger and create more freedom and wealth for themselves.

Because if I can do it, so can you! Hit that subscribe button and get ready to be super inspired to create a business and life you love because you deserve to have it all.