- The course content is significantly different from what was advertised.
- The course contains factual errors that materially affect the learning outcomes.

- The customer can demonstrate that they have made a reasonable effort to engage with the course materials but have not achieved the promised learning outcomes.
- Refunds will not be granted to customers who have completed more than 30% of the course or downloaded any of the Google sheets with Prompts. This is to prevent customers from consuming the content and then simply requesting a refund.
- Before a refund can be issued, customers are required to provide detailed feedback about why they are not satisfied with the course. This feedback must be provided by email to info@chatgptskool.com and sent to our customer support team within the 14-day refund period.

Verification of Identity for Refunds: We are committed to maintaining the integrity of our refund process. If, upon investigation, we have reasonable grounds to believe that an individual requesting a refund has misrepresented their identity or has used a fraudulent profile or email address, we reserve the right to withhold the refund.

Sharing of Course Content: Customers are strictly prohibited from sharing or distributing the course content with others. This includes Google Docs sheets that are provided in the course. Any customer found to be redistributing course content without prior written permission will have their access to the course immediately terminated without a refund. Legal action may also be taken against the customer.
