

The Queensland water industry employs more than

6,000 people in a wide variety of roles

The industry needs people for

- ✓ water & wastewater operators
- ✓ engineers
- ✓ operations & maintenance
- ✓ science/technical professionals
- ✓ management & business support

From short courses and traineeships to university degrees and postgrad studies, the study options are endless

What's great about working in the water industry?

You are contributing to the health of your community by providing safe drinking water

Protecting your local environment with appropriately treated wastewater

Exposure to rapidly advancing technology and innovative systems

Flexible workplace that supports your work/life balance with some requirements for after-hours work

Being part of a workforce where you can find jobs anywhere in the world!

Explore www.qldwatercareers.com.au to find out more about jobs and training pathways in the urban water industry and connect with local water and sewerage service providers.