ABOUT THE SHOW

Using my up, and downs of dating after loss and eventually becoming a remarried widow to help guide other widows and widowers step back into the world of dating. This show is designed to highlight widows and widowers, and their desire to step back into the dating world. We are living in a time where widows and widowers are at an all time high. There are more and more young widows now than ever before. The goal with this show is to normalize widows and widowers the freedom to date again without fear of judgment and self guilt. Understanding just because your spouse died does not mean you are dead. This show not only normalizes dating after widowhood, but it also opens up the conversation to widows and widowers across the world to express their desire to remarry.

STORIES THAT heal.

In 2014, Vioree moved her testimony and teachings from the pulpit to print with the debut of her self-published book My New Starts Now. This 30-day devotional is a go-to resource for encouragement, insight, direction, and affirmation for both men and women.

In 2021, after being widowed for 10 years, she self-published her newest book, Wounded, Widowed & Winning.

In these books, Vioree takes readers on her journey of abuse, widowhood, and her new marriage that developed on the other side of pain.
