

ABOUT NATASHA

NaTasha is a native of Washington, DC. She always knew she would be a business woman and someone who assisted other women with developing the skills and exposure needed to work outside of the home. At the early age of 14 she was enrolled in the summer youth program which provided jobs for children in DC. Over the next several years she would assist her aunt with summer programs and other initiatives for children in the community. After high school, she went to University of Maryland College Park for Criminal Justice, as her dream was to be a youth probation officer. But after not getting an offer for the job she wanted, she landed a summer job as an administrative assistant with the biggest community association management company on the east coast and found her passion – property management. Almost immediately, she knew this would be her career path. Before she knew it, she was the Assistant Property Manager and then Property Manager for one of the biggest projects developed by Peterson Company – National Harbor in Prince Georges County, Maryland.

In 2011 she became a CMCA (Certified Manager of Community Associations), in 2012, after 12 years in the business, she started Thomas Williams Management™ & Camerons Angels™, in 2014 she became an AMS (Association Management Specialist) and later passed her brokers class.

Having the desire to have multiple streams of income, NaTasha later tapped into the beauty industry and created AD Beauty & Hair™ and started her efforts in creating a legacy in real estate and beauty, which helped her discover her purpose for Camerons Angels™.

NaTasha's goal is to create a legacy for her children's, children, create jobs in her community and assist women entrepreneurs on their journey. Her mission is simple - to keep our dollars circulating in our community and to be a part of restoring black economics.

NaTasha is married with 3 children, 3 bonus children and 3 little ones that her bonus children allows to call her GiGi. She enjoys spending time with her family, shopping online and traveling. She is also the caretaker for her parents.
