DAVINA WARD

Davina Ward is an Author, Entrepreneur, Speaker, and Certified Life Coach. She is passionate about empowering women and places a major focus on RESILIENCE. She is also the Co-founder of Kingdom Coaching, a coaching practice that specializes in life and recovery coaching.

She has experienced an array of challenges that have authenticated her and motivate her to share her experience with other vulnerable woman. She is committed to freeing women and helping them understand that resilience is possible, regardless of what they have endured.

Davina has an extensive background in the public sector, working with individuals with modest means. She is also a certified Christian Life Coach. She commonly refers to herself as the P.U.S.H. Coach, (Persist, Until, Satan, Halts). Davina has been undeniably effective in her "breakthrough" coaching approach using tried and true strategies to remove the layers of lies, doubt and shame that paralyze women of purpose.

www. Davina Ward.com

Davina is the author of "Shaped in Iniquity, A Life Guided Journal for Turning Pain to Power."

She also offers One on One Life Coaching services. Empowerment merchandise. Also affectionately known as Coach D, she partners with her clients as they shift their focus from the reflection they see in the mirror, to the warrior God designed them to be in the spirit. There are so many vulnerable women whose purpose is lying dormant due to the trauma they have experienced throughout their life. Davina guides them in learning how discover and tap into it their purpose, through the tearing down of their own limiting beliefs and insecurities.

Davina's main goal is personal development leaving her clients feeling equipped and worthy to walk into what God has purposed them to do and to be. Her true passion lies in walking beside vulnerable women to awaken their inner self and stir their spirit, as they enter into their purpose and destiny.

